Strawberries are both delicious and nutritious

By SHIRLEY W. WALTON
Extension Agent
Strawberries--Delicious and Nutritious

Strawberry picking time for 1980 has now arrived. Select strawberries with full red color and bright luster, with firm flesh and the cap stems still attached. Berries should be dry and clean. Medium and small size berries may have better eating quality than large one. Select fully ripe berries for freezing and for jam. Strawberries for preserves should be firm. Do not pick strawberries on a wet, rainy day unless you are going to use them immediately.

Strawberries do not ripen after being picked. So you should only pick fully red, ripe berries that are plump, well rounded with a natural shine and fresh, good foliage. To hold berries at their best, remove them from containers and arrange them in a single layer on a cookie sheet, baking pan or shallow container and refrigerate. Strawberries kept refrigerated will stay fresh and bright for several days. Don't wash strawberries or remove caps until just before using. Washing strawberries removes the natural protective outer layer and the caps protect the strawberries texture, flavor and nutrients.

Strawberries are an excellent source of Vitamin C. with one cup supplying about 150% of the U. S. recommended daily allowance for the average adult.

Strawberries also add iron to the diet. Many Americans, particularly women and children, have diets deficient in this mineral, so it's good to know that one cup of fresh whole strawberries provides about 8% of the U.S. R.D.A. for iron.

One of the nicest things about strawberries is that a whole cup has only 60 calories. Sweet, plump, juicy strawberries make dieting easy and delicious.

Strawberries can be served in a variety of delicious ways. Strawberry shortcake and strawberry pie have long been favorites. Strawberries in the morning drizzled over cereal or pancakes and waffles are also delicious. Fold sliced strawberries into an omelet or fruit salad.

Strawberries placed in a blender make a terrrific very berry puree to pour over vanilla ice cream. Strawberries also make great late evening snacks, too. Serve them whole to dunk into powdered sugar or dip them into plain yogurt and then into brown sugar for an unusual delicious treat. Plain or fancy, fresh strawberries are always delicious and in demand.

When picking strawberries and planning for your use of them, you will be interested in knowing that one pint basket of strawberries contains about 3-¼ cups whole berries or 2-¼ cups sliced berries or 1-⅔ cups pureed berries. Use this rule of thumb to determine how many berries you need to pick or purchase to make your desired end product.

If you have a homemaking question or problem, you may call us at 352-8244 or write us at P. O. Box 488, Appomattox, Va. 24522. It is always a pleasure to hear from you and to help you.

Have a good week, homemakers, and Happy Strawberry Picking!

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Strawberry Pie

1-½ cups water
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Boil until clear. Add 1 small box strawberry gelatin and juice of ½ lemon or 1 teaspoon pure lemon juice. Chill mixture. Then fold in 1 quart strawberries. Pour in (2) baked pie shells. Keep in refrigerator until ready to use. Top with prepared whipped topping or whip cream. This recipe is a springtime favorite. The pies will keep several days under refrigeration. Because of requests, we are running this recipe again.

Farm debt doubles in six years

Outstanding farm debt in Virginia has more than doubled in the last six years. This dramatic expansion in the demand for farm credit portends the likelihood of continued growth. The question is: How much farm debt by 1985? Assuming farm debt will grow at the same annual rate of increase as in 1973-1979 gives a good idea. During this period, average annual rates of gain were: total farm debt, 13.8 percent, farm mortgage debt 13.1 percent, and non-real estate debt 15.1 percent. If these yearly rates of gain materialize, farmers total debt outstanding at the beginning of 1985 may equal some $3.0 billion, with farm mortgage debt totaling around $1.8 billion and non-real estate farm debt about $1.2 billion. Farm debt outstanding, growing near at these levels, will have more than doubled again by 1985.

The balance sheet of the Virginia farm sector reveals that the equity position of the state's farmers is strong, largely because of the rapid rise in the value of farmland. But while equity in farm assets is an important measure of the financial well-being of the farmer, it is not spendable income. Lenders and borrowers alike need to remember that growing farm debt must be serviced from income, and not from appreciation in assets or equity.

It's important to remember that the moisture content of hay is important for proper storage regardless of the packaging system. Hay in large round bales or in stacks store best when packaged at less than 25% moisture. More uniform and weather resistant packages are formed resulting in less heating and molding of the stored hay.

Some gardeners report potato beetles and flea beetles on white potatoes--sevin does a good job in control. There have been many home owners reporting white or black masses on white pines--these are aphids and malathion takes them off. Cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli are beginning to have loopers and caterpillars feeding on them--Dipel is a good safe material to use.
